CONTRACT LET FOR NORMAL DORMITORY

Structure Will Cost $24,000 and Will Be Built of Flagstaff Stone—Building Contract Goes to Flagstaff—Plans of New Building.

Territorial Superintendent of Public Instruction R. L. Long returned last night from Flagstaff, after letting the contract for a new dormitory for the Northern Arizona Normal school, says the Arizona Gazette.

The successful bidder was D. L. Hogan of Flagstaff, and the building will be of Flagstaff dressed stone. The price of construction is $24,000. Just when the building will be completed is not known, but it will be before the term of school which begins in the autumn of 1908.

D. W. Millard of Phoenix is the architect and he states that the building is to be 40x135 feet in size and will consist of two stories and a basement. The dormitory is to be for girls only and will contain twenty-nine students' rooms, accommodating thirty-six persons. Besides this there will be a parlor and two rooms for the matron.

In the basement will be a laundry, boiler and coal room. Hot and cold water will be piped to every room in the building. It has not been decided yet whether the steam or hot water heating system will be employed.

When completed the dormitory will be one of the handsomest structures of the kind in the territory. Its construction was authorized by an act of the late legislature.

HEROIC HUSBAND SAVES WIFE'S LIFE

Sucks Poison From a Wound Made By Diamond Rattler—Woman Ran Over Snake While Wheeling Baby and Reptile Struck Her.

While wheeling her child in a baby buggy along the road near her home at Middleton, a few days ago, Mrs. R. J. Schwanbeck was severely bitten above the ankle by a rattlesnake, and but for the prompt action of her husband, R. J. Schwanbeck, who arrived about fifteen minutes later, and sucked the wound, she would, in all probability, now be a corpse, says the Journal-Miner.

The reptile was what is known as a "diamond" rattler, and was unusually large for its species. Before she became aware of its presence she had wheeled the baby buggy over it, and it promptly fastened its poisonous fangs in her leg between the knee and the ankle.

Displaying rare presence of mind, Mrs. Schwanbeck tore her apron into strips and bound the limb as tight as she could below the knee to prevent the poison circulating through her system. Fifteen minutes later Mr. Schwanbeck arrived. He opened the wound with his razor and sucked the blood and poison from it. Dr. J. K. McDonnell of Crown King was called by telephone, and when he arrived, about two hours later, he found that Mr. Schwanbeck had sucked the greater part of the poison from the wound. While the wound was being sucked Mrs. Schwanbeck was given fifteen drops of whiskey every twenty minutes until she had taken six doses. This treatment was approved by the doctor, who congratulated Mr. Schwanbeck on his good work.

Since sucking the wound, Mr. Schwanbeck has been a great deal sicker than his wife, due to the presence of the poison, some of which reached his stomach. He advises all who try sucking rattlesnake wounds to wash out the mouth as often as possible with ammonia or whiskey.

PREPARE FOR WORK ON THE BOBTAIL

Kelvin Mine Has Been Bonded to Los Angeles Capitalists For the Sum of $65,000 and the New Company Will Begin Work This Fall.

E. R. Stafford, who returned a few days ago from the coast, has bonded the Bobtail mine near Kelvin to Los Angeles capitalists for a sum of $65,000 and the new company will begin work this fall and put on a stipulated force of men, says the Arizona Republican. By a partnership arrangement the group of ten claims in the Red Hill district twelve miles east of Florence recently bonded to George Westfall will be worked soon. Mr. Stafford will be the superintendent and share in the partnership. The new organization will erect a new hoist and put on a force of six men to do development work on the property.

This property is only six miles from the railroad and Mr. Stafford expects to begin shipping ore as soon as the road between the mine and the railroad is repaired for hauling purposes. The deposit shaft on this property is down fifty feet and it was sunk through a four foot vein on the surface which continued to the bottom of the shaft. The ore is a carbonate and a high per cent in copper, and carries some gold values.

There are two other shafts on the property and each of them have a fine showing. It is the intention of the company to make the ore taken out pay for the development work and also hope to net a profit. The other group at Kelvin is owned by J. J. Sullivan and others and has considerable development work on it and a fine showing of ore.

PUSHING WORK ON ROOSEVELT DAM

Foundation Is within a Few Days of Completion—Future Floods in River Will Not Delay Work of Construction to Any Extent.

George D. Burtis is down from Roosevelt on business. He states that everything is moving along satisfactorily at the big dam. Saturday the first rock since the recent flood was laid, says the Arizona Gazette.

Mr. Burtis says that everything is in such shape that in case of floods the contractors can always recommence the laying of rock at least two days after the water subsides to so low a point that it will not pour over the coffer dam.

The big hydraulic pumps are always kept busy flushing out with water the excavation between the coffer dam and the dam proper. Even when the river is pouring through and the excavation is filled up the pumps are kept busy to prevent the collection of mud and debris.

The last flood considerably battered up three derricks. These were left in the excavation, tied to the cable overhead and weighted down with rocks. The water, however, washed these rocks away in a few minutes and the derricks were hammered about. Only the cable kept them from being washed down stream. They were badly battered, but not beyond repair.

The masonry work is now up forty feet from bedrock and about even with the level of the bottom of the stream. In a few days the foundation will have been completed entirely.

A WOMAN CAUSED ALL HIS TROUBLE

Tried to Drown Grief in Drink and Forged His Brother's Name to a Check—Brother Comes to His Rescue and Case Is Compromised.

O. T. Roseberry, who has been held at the county jail since last Wednesday on the charge of forgery, is out of his trouble. He had forged the name of his brother, assistant roadmaster of the S. F. & P. E., to a check for $50, which he had cashed at the Anheuser saloon, says the Phoenix Republican.

Roseberry had been drinking for some time and it was generally regarded that he was not responsible for the act. There was no disposition on the part of anyone to prosecute him, and it was believed that his brother would arrange the matter as soon as he could be communicated with. For this reason the case was not hurriedly pushed to preliminary trial.

Yesterday morning the brother came to town and sent word to M. L. Vieux, the proprietor of the Anheuser, that he was ready to make the check good. Mr. Vieux called on Justice Johnstone, out of whose court the warrant had been issued, to see if the complaint could not be dismissed. The court had no objection, but referred Mr. Vieux to District Attorney Bullard, who gave his consent for the dismissal on the payment of the costs, which amounted to $6.65.

Mr. Vieux was paid his money, the costs were satisfied and an order was sent to jail for the release of Roseberry. It was thought after all that though this was rather heroic treatment, that he was all the better for it. He is an industrious and capable man when he is sober, and he is not a drunkard. But some weeks ago a little matrimonial episode set him off on the wrong foot and he has been on it ever since. The few days he spent in jail gave him the first realization of his situation he had had for several weeks.
